H. PARTICIPATION IN COMMUNITY COORDINATION

2. WHAT ELEMENTS OF THE AGENCY ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCH COORDINATION?

3. HOW DO THEY PARTICIPATE IN THIS COORDINATION?

DIA representation on various committees functioning under USIB auspices has been allocated to pertinent components of the agency; this participation being coordinated and controlled through the Director's office. Selection of the DIA representative is based in part on the particular mission of the element to which he is attached and in part on the mission and particular problems to which the committee addresses itself. For example, the DIA representative to the Guided Missile and Astronautic Committee (GMAIC) is Chief of the Scientific and Technical Division of the Office of Estimates. GMAIC is largely concerned with establishing definitive community estimates in the field of its concern and a considerable portion of its output are estimates, and inputs to National Intelligence Estimates. A lesser GMAIC problem is concerned with the establishment of new collection requirements. In another area, the Committee on Overhead Reconnaissance, the DIA representative is the Chief of the Special Activities Office whose mission is to specialize in dealing with reconnaissance in all its forms in support of all components of DIA. The output of COMOR is largely in the form of recommendations for such reconnaissance, the management of operations and the management of the results of such reconnaissance. The product is processed in many ways before it becomes, in contrast to the GMAIC output, an input to a National Intelligence Estimate. Recognizing these variations in mission and function, as set forth in USIB documents, the following is a tabulation of DIA assignments of representation:
